

Students attend Chatham High

UPPER Lansdowne School students in Stage 3 enjoyed a day at Chatham High School last Wednesday.

They participated in classes in art, agriculture, drama, science and other subjects.

They also had the opportunity to engage in a program called "Dino Dig", run by students from the University of Newcastle.

A reminder that the Upper Lansdowne School students will be holding another one of their great plant sales today (Friday), after school.

There are many bargains for a minimal purchase. Proceeds from the plant sale assist students in purchasing more plants and seeds for the garden.

Upper Lansdowne School students Jayden Fernance and Shania Nichols attending Chatham High School's WOW day.